

*'Good morning
Chichester'
Cornflower stickers.*

The cornflower has been the patron flower of Chichester, and was worn during Gala days.

It is a symbol of hope and friendship.

In some ways the pandemic has brought the community together, but for many it has meant increasing isolation and loneliness. Masks and face-coverings have made it more difficult to recognise people and must keep our distance. A cornflower sticker has been produced for the people of Chichester to show are part of our community. It might encourage a simple good morning, a hello, a smile (with the eyes), or just a wave. There is also a special sticker for children. Shops and cafés will recognise you as a local, showing your support for them.

Sheets of stickers will be distributed through the residents' associations and promoted in the local press and social media.
